Raging Congo Troops Kill 44 Civilians

By PATRICK MASSEY

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Rampaging Congolese soldiers killed 44 civilians in bitter street fighting at Luluabourg, the United Nations reported today.

The troops ran wild through the town after three of their comrades had been killed and three wounded by a pro-Lumumbist mob.

The violence boiled over in the aftermath of last week's takeover of the capital of Kasai Province by Lumumbist troops from Stanleyville. These troops pulled out two days ago and left the town in a ferment.

Luluabourg, 400 miles east of Leopoldville, was the scene of tribal clashes in the days just after the Congo gained independence from Belgium last summer.

The United Nations reported that after the battle Wednesday some 1,000 civilians sought U. N. protection.

Luluabourg, though officially within the orbit of the Leopoldville regime, is heavily populated by ardent tribal followers of the late Patrice Lumumba.

A U. N. spokesman said the trouble started Tuesday night when a yelling mob demonstrated to demand the release of an officer called Col. Mulumba.

Mulumba was arrested by his own troops for showing pro-Lumumba sympathies during the takeover.

The mob shot three of the soldiers.

There was no immediate report of any Europeans among the dead. Figures for injured were not known at U. N. headquarters.

The fighting raged through most of Wednesday but the U. N. reported that by 8 a. m. the town was quiet again.

The 1,000-strong contingent of U. N. Ghanaian troops in Luluabourg took no part in the fighting.

After the fighting in Luluabourg, Ghanaian and Congolese troops joined forces to set up roadblocks and seal off the native township of Ndesha.

Trucks passing through the checkpoints were searched for illegal arms.

U.N. and Congolese officers later held what was described as a cordial conference on means of maintaining order. As a result, Congolese troops now are helping the Ghanaian forces to patrol the town.

In Leopoldville, the United Nations ordered its soldiers today never to surrender their arms and to open fire on anyone who tries to make them.

Reliable sources said the order went out to all U. N. forces around the capital. It followed a number of incidents in which Congolese soldiers arrested and disarmed U. N. troops.

Unemployment Pay Bill Gets a Good Start

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON AP)—A thumping 392-30 House vote on the billion dollar emergency unemployment aid bill has gotten President Kennedy's antirecession program off to a good start in Congress.

Sen Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., said today his finance committee will conduct a hearing on the bill next week, probably on Tuesday or Wednesday.

Democrats would like to get the measure to the White House by mid-March so unemployed Americans who have exhausted jobless insurance benefits can start receiving the extra payments by April 1.

Byrd said he did not expect lengthy hearings or any serious opposition to the measure on the Senate side.

The emergency unemployment legislation has more bipartisan support than any of Kennedy's economic proposals, however. Thus its big House vote was no signal that other measures will slide through so easily.

Congressional committees continue work today on other more controversial administration bills.

The House Labor Committee begins its closed-door work on minimum wage legislation, planning to report out a bill some time next week. The subcommittee which conducted the hearings approved its version Tuesday.

The unemployment aid bill breezed through the House Wednesday with support of 248 Democrats and 144 Republicans. Opposing it were 28 Republicans and 2 Democrats.

The administration estimates as many as 3 million unemployed who have exhausted or will exhaust their jobless insurance benefits may receive help under the program.

They would get a maximum of 13 extra weeks of payments, and a minimum of half of the period now paid in the various states.

The program would cover those who use up their basic insurance rights during the two-year period beginning last June 30. The payments during the two years are estimated to total $927 million; they would be made through advances to the states from the Treasury.

The Treasury would get back the money through a temporary increase in the unemployment compensation payroll tax to 3.5 per cent in 1962 and 1963. The permanent rate is 3.1 per cent.

Amendments to Rail Crossing Bill Rejected

By LEON HATCH

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Senate today rejected two amendments which would thwart a railroad-sponsored bill to repeal an old law requiring trainmen to keep a lookout for persons or animals on the tracks.

The Senate postponed until after a lunch recess a vote on a third similar amendment and on the bill itself, which has already passed the House.

Senate proponents and opponents of the bill differed widely on their interpretation of what it would do.

Lt. Gov. Nathan Gordon made his second floor appearance in the 16 years he has been the Senate's presiding officer to oppose the bill. He said that if it became law no one would ever be able to successfully prosecute a damage suit growing out of a crossing accident.

Sen. John O. Moore of Texarkana, the chief Senate sponsor, said the bill would merely permit railroads to plead contributory negligence as a defense in accidents occurring at crossings or on railroad right of way.

Contributory negligence is a finding that the injured persons plaintiff contributed to his own damage and may be used to offset or reduce a judgment.

Aside from Gordon, Sen. Jack Yates from Ozark also opposed the bill and it was he who offered the amendments the Senate turned down.

Either would have removed a section of the bill calling for repeal of the old lookout statutes, one of them passed as long ago as 1891.

A third amendment to the same effect was still pending at the time of the recess. It was introduced by Sen. Douglas Bradley of Jonesboro.

Moore submitted letters from Rep. Hayes McClerken of Miller County, who submitted the bill in the House, and from Pat Mehaffy of Little Rock, an attorney for the Missouri - Pacific railroad, both of which said that the contributory negligence feature was the only intent of the bill.

Mehaffy said that he and attor-

Gov. Denies Compromise Was Reached

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—No specific proposals for a compromise on the teacher retirement issue have been advanced to him, Gov. Orval E. Faubus said today.

Faubus took note of capitol reports that he might forego his teacher retirement plan if the Arkansas Education Association agrees to support his $60 million bond proposal, but he said that this had not reached the talking stage. The AEA's executive board met today to discuss the bond issue. AEA Executive Secretary Forrest Rozzell said he knew of no possible compromise.

"I'm always ready to reach an understanding with anybody," Faubus said.

The governor mentioned another compromise proposal under which the AEA would support the bond issue in return for a guarantee that the public school fund would get 60 per cent of increased general revenues. Public schools now get 53 per cent of the net general revenue fund.

Faubus indicated he would not sign the AEA's 9.72 teacher retirement bill even if the Senate fails to pass his own retirement bill.

The rumored compromise proposal was based on the assumption that Faubus would get both retirement bills and would veto both, leaving the retirement program as is until the 1963 legislature receives a report from a special retirement study commission. In return, the AEA would support the bond proposal.

The AEA retirement bill is now ready to go to Faubus. The governor's retirement plan is waiting for a vote in the Senate. The House passed it on reconsideration Wednesday.

Faubus said William J. Smith, his legislative aide, was discussing the bond proposal with the AEA's executive committee today.

"I don't think our differences are very great," Faubus said.

If the bond issue is not approved by voters, Faubus said, he will have to call a special session to make a new allocation of current revenue surpluses for construction needs.

The bond proposal is designed to take care of the University of Arkansas, the State Hospital, seven state colleges and the Children's Colony. The governor plans to spend $16 million from current revenues for construction at other institutions.

Faubus said if the bond issue fails, the $16 million program will be cancelled and most of the money will be allocated to the State Hospital and the children's Colony. "There will be very little money for anybody else," Faubus said.

Shortage in Parkin Account

LITTLE ROCK AP)—A shortage in Parkin's city account was set at $15,880 by the state comptroller's office Wednesday following an audit after two embezzlement charges were filed against Parkin City Clerk I. H. Thompson last week.

Thompson is free on $5,000 bond.

Embezzler Gets Aid of Townsfolks

By GENE SCHROEDER

MASON, Mich. (AP)—His family and fellow townspeople closed ranks today behind former banker James A. Dart as he faced a possible 30 years in prison and a $30,000 fine in misapplication of $370,000 at his family's bank.

"The family will do everything we can for Jim now that the bank has been saved, but that doesn't justify what he did," said his nephew, Rollin B. Hart, who now heads the bank.

"This is no attempt to whitewash him, because the bank comes first and then the family," Hart added. "He has given me his lifelong promise that we will recover the losses from him."

Dart, 49, sobbingly conceded "performing an act not proper" after he was arrested by FBI agents Wednesday and arraigned along with a co-defendant, Paul P. Chien, 35, of East Lansing, Mich.

Indicted on six counts by a federal grand jury, Dart said in a voice choked with emotion that his family had rallied behind him and had made full restitution to the Dart National Bank.

If the family was standing by James Dart, so were the townspeople—in their own way. They didn't talk much to reporters who asked for their reaction to the scandal. When they did, it was to say nice things about the Dart family.

The Darts have played a prominent part in community affairs ever since big, amiable Rollin C. Dart, a prosperous Ingham County farmer, opened up a bank here. His four sons and two daughters grew up in the town, and all but two still live here with their families.

The bank is a money-maker. Resources have risen to an all-time high of $7.8 million. The 5,000 depositors outnumber the residents of the town.

James Dart's brother, John has a thriving insurance agency in town. Another brother, William, runs the Dart Manufacturing Co., which produces plastic and metal stampings, children's games and a disposable drinking cup.

A sister, Mrs. Lawrence Smith, is a director of the bank.

Chien—author of a book entitled "Financial Jungle U.S.A."—had served as an accountant for Dart's plumbing and heating firm and was accused of complicity in a check-kiting scheme which the FBI said at one time involved more than a million dollars.

The FBI said the check-kiting scheme was discovered by an officer of the Michigan National Bank who noted an overdraft in one of Dart's accounts.

Check-kiting, an FBI agent explained, is the manipulation of funds which take into account the normal three or four-day delay between the time a check is deposited in an account and is cleared by the bank on which it is drawn.

Report Links Retirement Bill With Bonds

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus scored a double victory in the Legislature Wednesday. His teacher retirement bill passed the House on a second try, and his construction bond program breezed through the House.

There were reports, unconfirmed, that a sweeping compromise might be in the wind involving these two issues. Faubus has been at odds with the school forces over teacher retirement. There have been indications that the same school forces might oppose his construction program.

This, the report said, could bring a compromise in which Faubus would agree to let the Teacher Retirement System remain unchanged for two years in exchange for support of the construction program by the school forces.

Previous attempts to reach a compromise on the teacher retirement issue have failed. And there has been no public announcement of opposition by school people to the bond program, which passed the House 83-11 Wednesday and was expected to come up today in the Senate.

The Faubus proposal was termed the "boldest step that this state has ever taken" by supporters of the plan. But opponents suggested it might be just a little bold for their consumption.

The Senate had previously amended the bond proposal to add several citizen members to a commission that would supervise the construction program.

Originally the plan called for the governor, the comptroller and the purchasing agent to be on the commission. The Senate added representatives of contractors, architects and engineers.

The Senate also has the teacher retirement controversy to contend with.

After approving the Arkansas Education Association's 9.72 per cent state contribution play Tuesday, the House reversed itself Wednesday and sided with the Faubus side.

This act drew the ire of Pulaski County Rep. Harry Carter, an AEA proponent, who told those who changed their vote that they had "approved a stop-gap method."

Carter's remarks brought a quick retort from Pulaski County Rep. Glenn Walther who said he had been insulted by AEA backers' allegations that those voting for the governor's plan did so through political pressure.

Walther said further that those

Income Tax Allowance Bill Passes

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Arkansas House today passed 69-4 and sent to the Senate a bill to give Arkansas taxpayers a deduction for $600 of federal income tax paid.

Lawrence County Rep. Paul Graham admitted the bill had little future. It was identical to one Graham got passed in 1959 which was vetoed by Gov. Orval E. Faubus.

Faubus has indicated he will veto any tax cut bills which come out of this session.

Graham's bill could save each taxpayer from $6 to $30, according to his income.

Passed and sent to the Senate by a 70-7 vote was a bill to require taxicab companies to carry $10,000-20,000-50,000 liability insurance on their automobiles. The present law sets the insurance figure at $5,000-10,000,10,000.

Miller County Rep. Hayes C. McClerkin explained that private cars under Arkansas' voluntary liability law had to show financial responsibility of $10,000-$20,000-$5,000 and he felt taxicabs should have the same coverage. McClerkin estimated the bill would raise insurance rates about $70 a year for each taxi.

The limits would be $10,000 per person, $20,000 total per accident and $5,000 property damage.

In a bit of horseplay, Faulkner County Rep. W. H. Sanson amended Perry County Rep. Paul Van Dalsem's bill to make Toadsuck Ferry a state park to put a portion of the proposed park in Faulkner County.

Van Dalsem spoke for the amendment, saying it would result in the only park in the United States with a ferry inside the park.

"Just think what a tourist attraction that would be," Van Dalsem said. The Arkansas River divides Perry and Faulkner counties. It is doubtful if the bill ever will come to a vote.

The Toadsuck Ferry is operated by the state Highway Department.

Union County Rep. Chadd Durrett, House floor leader for a Senate truck weight bill, said the measure would be called for a vote Friday morning. He predicted it would pass. The bill would increase the maximum truck weight from 64,000 to 73,280 pounds.

Bill Would Restore Ike's Rank

WASHINGTON (AP) — An administration bill to restore former President Dwight D. Eisenhower to a fivestar general's rank was introduced today.

The honor, which Eisenhower has said he wants, may involve some financial sacrifice for him.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga. chairman of the Senate Armed Services committee, introduced the measure. It would authorize President Kennedy to appoint Eisenhower to the active list of the regular Army, in the general of the Army rank Eisenhower gave up to become president.

Russell's prepared announcement said that since Eisenhower is entitled by law as a former president to draw a $25,000-a-year pension for life, the bill declares that he should not be entitled to the pay or allowances of a general of the Army.

Committee sources said the compensation of a five-star general is $20,543.36 a year, but that since nearly $8,000 of this is tax free, it is "more advantageous" than the taxable $25,000 presidential pension.

Kennedy told a news conference Eisenhower should have the honor because of his "outstanding military record and the great affection and regard that the people of this country have for him."

Spa Officials Deny Gangland Meet

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—Hot Springs officials today denied a Chicago newspaper's report that a group of underworld figures held a series of Apalachin-type meetings here last month.

"We do not believe such a meeting was held," said Mayor Dan Wolf. "If one had been held and we had any knowledge that it was going on the participants would have been locked up or run out of town."

Prosecutor David Whittington agreed. "If I had any knowledge of such a meeting, they would all be in jail right now."

"I have no information of any such meeting having been held here," said Police Chief Milford Sanders.

The Chicago Daily News said Wednesday that the meeting began Feb. 14 and ended abruptly 10 days later when the participants learned they were being observed by local and federal authorities.

The FBI declined to comment.

Kennedy Signs His First Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has signed his first bill into law. It establishes a joint congressional commitee to arrange a re-enactment of Abraham Lincoln's first inauguration on its 100th anniversary Saturday.

The President used two pens in signing the measure Wednesday at a small White House ceremony.

One of the congressmen present, Rep. Fred Schwengel, R-Iowa, invited Kennedy to attend the Lincoln ceremony. "I will try to come if I can," Kennedy replied. Schwengel is chairman of the joint congressional committee that helped arrange the affair.

Cites Need of Community Clinics

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Community clinics are a vital need for mental health, Dr. Robert Felix said today in the opening address of the 13th annual Institute in Psychiatry and Neurology at Fort Roots Hospital.

Dr. Felix, president of the American Psychiatric Association and director of the National Institute of Mental Health, said the clinics were needed for patients after their discharge from mental hospitals.

"Follow-up studies of released patients have shown that psychoactive drugs can be used successfully in preventing rehospitalization," Dr. Felix said.

He said these studies emphasize the importance of establishing community - based aftercare clinics.

McClellan to Head Conference

BALTIMORE (AP)—Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., will serve as deputy president of the 20th International Navigation Congress scheduled at Baltimore Sept. 11-19.

His acceptance of the post was announced by Maryland Gov. J. Millard Tawes, chairman of the organizing committee of the Congress. Sen. John Marshall Butler, R-Md., previously had been announced as president of the congress.

The congress meets every four years to discuss international inland and ocean navigation problems.

Made a Mistake

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)— Former model Barbara Jean Cameron, 37, got a divorce from millionaire oilman Arthur A. Cameron, 60, Tuesday after testifying: "He thought he had made a mistake and didn't want to continue our marriage."

They were married last June and separated last January.

Rebels Take DeGaulle's Bid for Peace

By STEPHEN HUGHES

RABAT, Morocco (AP) — The Algerian rebels today accepted French President Charles de Gaulle's bid for peace talks to end the long and costly Algerian war. Direct negotiations appeared imminent.

The rebels insisted on their goal in the 6½-year war: Independence from France. They softened it somewhat by saying that Morocco, Tunisia and Algeria are planning to join in a loose federation retaining friendly ties with Paris.

The rebel announcement came in a joint communique issued after talks here between the Algerian nationalist leaders and their two neighbors and supporters, Tunisia and Morocco. Rebel Premier Ferhat Abbas conferred with King Hassan II of Morocco and President Habib Bourguiba of Tunisia until just before dawn.

Bourguiba had come directly from Paris bearing a new offer for talks from De Gaulle.

French Information Officer Louis Terrenoire disclosed in Paris that De Gaulle told Bourguiba France is no longer insisting that the rebels lay down their arms before negotiations take place. A cease-fire would have robbed the Algerian nationalists of their main political weapon, which is the war itself.

The two sides see the negotiations differently. The rebels want to talk only about independence. De Gaulle, Terrenoire said, wants to discuss "the conditions for self-determination."

By this he meant the De Gaulle plan for letting Algeria decide its own political future through free elections. Independence from France is one of the choices De Gaulle has outlined.

The key is "determination."

By this he meant the De Gaulle plan for letting Algeria decide its own political future through free elections. Independence from France is one of the choices De Gaulle has outlined.

The key portion of the North African leaders' communique said:

"Considering the recent developments of the Algerian problem, the three chiefs of state esteem that there ought to be no further obstacles to the opening of direct negotiations between the French government and the provisional government of the Algerian republic for independence in the framework for total decolonialization."

They also reaffirmed their determination to build the "Grand Maghreb." This is the Arabic expression for a political and economic grouping of North Africa. The world Maghreb means far west, in this case the far west of the Arab world.

De Gaulle views this plan with enthusiasm because it would provide a means for France to retain ties with its former colonies and, hopefully, to neutralize the die-hard opposition of Algeria's European settlers to independence.

Lady in Hospital

LONDON AP) — Sir Winston Churchill's wife, Lady Clementine, was in the hospital today for what the family described as "a rest." Lady Churchill, who is 75, was reported resting comfortably.

Cosmopolitan Club Meets in the Lyle Brown Home

Mrs. Lyle Brown and Mrs. McDowell Turner were co-hostesses for a meeting of the Cosmopolitan Club February 28 in the Brown home. Lovely spring flowers were seen in the entertainment rooms.

"Applesauce Needs Sugar" by Victoria Case was the book reviewed by Mrs. Henry Haynes. Mrs. E. J. Whitman told about her hobby, creole foods. Mrs. Lynn Ross of Batesville was a guest of the club. The hostesses served pie, nuts, and coffee or tea to 16.

Mrs. K. G. Hamilton Hostess to Tuesday Bridge Club

Camellias and other spring flowers were used to decorate the home of Mrs. K. G. Hamilton February 28 when she was hostess to her Tuesday Bridge Club.

Club guests were Mrs. R. E. Cooper and Mrs. R. V. Herndon. Mrs. K. G. Hamilton was the highest scorer of the two tables of players, and the game prize went to Mrs. R. V. Herndon. A sandwich plate and coffee were served.

Chapter AE of the P. E. O. Meets

Chapter AE of the P. E. O. met in the home of Mrs. W. W. Compton on February 28 with Mrs. F. M. Horton as co-hostess. The president, Mrs. E. P. O'Neal, conducted the business meeting.

For the program Mrs. Gus Haynes used the subject, Plants in the Bible. The ladies were invited into the dining room where refreshments were served from a table centered with white japonica and King Alfred jonquils.

Mrs. O'Neal poured the coffee and tea, and salad, pie, and assorted tidbits were also served. Tea guests were Mrs. Harry Shiver, Mrs. Clyde Zinn, Miss Fauncelle Atkins, Mrs. Florence Hicks, and Mrs. Lynn Ross of Batesville.

Mrs. Jud Martindale Entertains Bridge Club

Mrs. Jud Martindale entertained her bridge club Tuesday night, February 28 and had pretty varieties of greenery throughout her home. The two tables of players included one club guest, Mrs. Dick Moore.

At the conclusion of play the high scorer was Mrs. Bill Tollerson. The second high and game prize went to Mrs. Wayne Russell. A salad plate and coffee were served for refreshments.

Tuesday Bridge Club Meets With Mrs. George Robison

Jonquils were seen in the home of Mrs. George Robison on February 28 when she entertained her Tuesday Bridge Club. Mrs. A. K. Holloway and Miss Elizabeth Bridewell were club guests that afternoon. High scorer was Mrs. R. L. Broach, and Miss Bridewell was second high.

Miss Martha Grimes Honored With Bridal Shower

Miss Martha Grimes, who became Mrs. Ronnie Burke February 24, was honored with a miscellaneous bridal shower on February 14 in the home of Mrs. Wayward Burke with Miss Lillie Clark, Mrs. C. B. O'Steen, Mrs. Roy Burke, and Mrs. Bryan Clark as co-hostesses.

Carrying out the theme of Valentine's Day were decorations of white roses, red roses, and white lilies. The honoree wore a beige spring dress and was given a corsage of red roses. Her mother, Mrs. Grimes, and her fiance's mother, Mrs. Irvin Burke, were given white rose corsages.

In the dining room the serving table was overlaid with a white lace cloth with red bows of ribbon at each corner. Red streamers of ribbon led to the centerpiece, a red heart with a bride and groom on it encircled with red roses and a white fan.

Individual cakes trimmed with red roses were served by Mrs. Jewel Burke, and Mrs. Buck Faulkner served the punch. Members of the house party wore corsages of spring flowers. The honoree received many nice gifts from her friends. About 50 called during the appointed hours.

Mother Kills Two Daughters, Self

ALAMOGORDO, N.M. (AP)—A distraught mother shot and killed her two children and killed herself Wednesday night on the grave of a daughter who had burned to death eight years ago.

State police officers arrived at the scene just minutes after the shootings, to late to prevent the tragedy.

Friends said Evva Lea Jackson, 30, had been despondent since the death of her daughter, Barbara, who burned to death in a fire at home in 1953.

The victims of the shooting were Joseph Abenante Jr., 10 months old; and Vicki Lynn, 5.

State police learned of the impending shooting when a maid, not immediately identified, gave them three notes she said Mrs. Jackson had just handed her at the family home.

The notes, written on the back of three blank checks, indicated that Mrs. Jackson intended to take her own life and that of the children.

"No more headaches. At last I will be at peace. Barbie, Vicki, Little Joe and I will all be together and happy. I couldn't leave them behind," one note said.

Tenant Farmer Electrocuted

STUTTGART, Ark. (AP) — A tenant farmer was electrocuted and another man was burned Wednesday when a well pipe they were handling came into contact with a high voltage wire.

Charlie Belieu, 34, of near Humphrey, was killed. J. L. Wilson, owner of the farm where Belieu lived and where the accident occurred, was hospitalized here with burns on his hands and feet.

Belieu is survived by his widow and two children.

DOROTHY DIX

One Mother-In-Law Who Is Different

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen:

I'm going to bat for my mother-in-law! She's punctual with cards for birthdays, anniversaries and thank-you's.

She has a large family and, when you go to her house, is a jolly soul, always ready with a cup of tea or anything else you wish, in a jiffy. She bakes wonderful home - made cakes and keeps a refrigerator stocked with good things for her married children to take what they want. She never crabs, which is more than can be said of the in-laws' mothers.

Still, when they get together, these same in - laws slam my mother-in-law. She's a wonderful mother and grandmother who would give her last cent or last drop of blood to help others. Hooray for my mother-in-law and father-in-law! They are tops. — Mrs. E. Smith, Pawtucket, R.I.

Dear Mrs. Smith: Good for you May others take notice.

Dear Helen:

I have been writing t oa boy in the Army. When he gets leave we go out together. Last week we went dancing. I got mad at him for something I should not have and didn't speak for 20 minutes. Should I write and say I'm sorry? —J.P.

Dear J.P.: Yes. A note frankly admiting you were in the wrong would certainly be in order. Keep it simple and short

Dear Helen:

My wife has a sister who is coming to visit us in the near future. We have only two bedroms; one occupied by my wife's parents, the other by my wife and me.

She thinks I should sleep on the living room couch and let her sister share our room with her. I say either my sister-in-law sleps in the living room, or we do. Who is right? —M.M.

Dear M.M.: Your sister-in-law, being the guest, is the one to decide that. Off-hand I would say, let her have the bedroom to herself.

Send your problem to Helen Worden Erskine. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and address her care of this newspaper. Helpful leaflets available. Write for "Disposition."

Action Against Rees Planned

RICHMOND, Va. (ap) — Gov. J. Lindsay Almond Jr. has called a top-level conference for March 9 to plan what action Virginia will take against Melvin Davis Rees Jr.

The 32-year-old Hyattsville, Md., musician is charged in Virginia with the murders of four members of the Carroll V. Jackson Jr. family in January, 1959. He was convicted by a U.S. District Court jury in Baltimore last week on federal kidnap charges in the deaths of Mrs. Jackson, 27, her daughter Susan, 5, whose bodies were found buried near Gambrills, Md., on March 22, 1959.

The death penalty was not recommended for Rees, and his sentencing was postponed pending an appeal.

The Justice Department in Washington has assured Virginia of cooperation if it wants to try Rees in the Jackson slayings.

Malvern Men Held in Holdup

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—A service station attendant was shot and wounded during a holdup Wednesday night and two Malvern area men were arrested at a roadblock a short time later.

The attendant, Roy Hoover, was in serius condition with a .45 bullet wound in the shoulder.

Held in connection with the shooting were Melton H. Gullett, Oak Grove store operator, and Lloyd D. Plummer, Payen.

They were arrested without resistance by State Trooper Roy Kirkdoffer at a roadblock on a back road leading to Malvern. Roadblocks were set up when it was reported the car used in the holdup had a Hot Sprjng County License.

Officers said Hoover was shot when he attempted to stop the men during the robbery.

Letter Says Jews Bombed U. S. Base

NEW YORK (AP)—Bombings of U.S. installations in Egypt by Jews started Israel's controversial "Lavon affair," the publication "Jewish Newsletter" asserted today.

This biweekly publication, often critical of Israeli affairs, prints an account headed "The Truth About the 'Lavon Affair.'"

William Zukerman, editor of the Jewish Newsletter, says the author of this account, the Rev. Humphrey Walz, a Crown Point, Ind., Presbyterian pastor, is "a special correspondent whose trustworthiness we vouch for."

The account says:

"In November 1954, several American installations in Egypt were bombed by small delayed-action bombs, shaped like books and secreted in book covers which were brought into the U.S. Information libraries in Alexandria and Cairo. The bombs were placed in the shelves of the libraries just before closing hours, and several hours later there was an infernal blast, shattering glass and shelves and setting fire to books and furniture. Smiilar bombs were placed in the MGM theater and other American-owned business buildings.

"These incidents were all the more baffling because anti-American feeling in Egypt was at a low point then. In December 1954 the secret police arrested two young Jewish boys carrying such bombs, about to enter an American building.

"They confessed that they were members of an Israeli sabotage unit organized recently by an agent who came from Paris. They showed their workshop, which had a secret receiving set by which they received coded messages from abroad.

"Upon arrest, the leader of the ring committed suicide in prison. In January 1955, the Egyptians held a public trial. American Jews were greatly excited, claiming the trial was a frameup. The defendants all pleaded guilty. Two were condemned to death and others given prison terms.

"During the trial, some journalists in the Mapam party in Israel discovered that the orders for organizing and directing the sabotage unit had been signed by Lavon."

Pinhas Lavon was minister of defense in the Israeli Cabinet of Prime Minister Moshe Sharett. Lavon resigned on Sharett's demand, and David Ben-Gurion became minister of defense.

The account continues that Israeli courts trying forgery cases last year heard testimony that Lavon's signature had been forged in 1954 in "a security mishap." A government inquiry found that Lavon was the victim of intrigue and forgery. Ben-Gurion, prime minister of Israel before and after Sharett's brief term, resigned Jan. 31 in protest against his cabinet's clearing of Lavon.

This week, Ben-Gurion announced he had been unable to form a new government, and called for elections. Lavon, meantime, has resigned as secretary-general of Histradrut, the Israeli federation of labor.

The Jewish Newsletter account says the operation in question was planned by a group in the Israeli Department of Defense and Lavon's signature forged to the authorization.

Cleburne county was created in 1883 to become the seventy-fifth and last.

National 4-H Club Week

National 4-H Club Week, March 4-11, will be observed by approximately 625 4-Hers in Hempstead County. The young people 10-21 years old are among the 2,302,000 4-Hers of America who belong to 94,200 clubs.

This year's continuing them for the Head, Heart, Hands, Health group is "Learn, Live, and Serve Through 4-H." Among the special 4-H Week activities planned for Hempstead are 'Clean up, Fix up, signs placed on lawns stating "A 4-H Club member lives here," club members in charge of church services, social activities and exhibits.

Club members everywhere will share honors with 302,500 unpaid volunteer leaders and guide 4-H work throughout the 50 states and Puerto Rico.

Among purposes of 4-H Club Week are to acquaint more young people with opportunities open to them through 4-H Clubs; to increase public understanding of 4-H aims and accomplishments; and to express appreciation to the many friends of 4-H who support the "learn by doing" program of character development and good citizenship.

During National 4-H Club Week Hempstead Clubs hope to attract more local volunteer leaders. Men or women interested in young people may qualify as a 4-H leader. Boys and girls need your leadership. As a project leader, you can teach valuable skills in a wide variety of useful activities. These may develop into lifetime occupations for members and all will help 4-Hers become more useful citizens.

siding with the AEA plan had done so out of fear the teachers would defeat them in the next election.

Faubus is expected to sign the 5 per cent plan if it passes the Senate and veto the AEA plan.

Rep. Jack S. Oakes, leader of the Faubus bill, has predicted Senate passage of the measure.

Meanwhile the Senate approved a constitutional convention motion by a vote of 32-1 without debate.

The convention, which would be held next Nov. 13, would draft a replacement of the present constitution which dates back to 1874.

It's author, Sen. John O. Moore of Texarkana, introduced the bill early in the current session but it was not acted upon until Wednesday.

It provides for each county to have the same number of delegates it has in the House plus two delegates at large to be elected from each of the six congressional districts.

The Senate voted to postpone until July 1, 1963 the date a House bill would remove the remaining 11 occupants of the Arkansas Confederate Home in Little Rock.

Brinkley Sen. Tom Allen's amendment to let the occupants stay in one-half of the home and turn the other half over to the Arkansas School for the Blind was defeated.

A bill that called for allocating $100,000 for emergency funds for school districts whose construction funds have been exhausted was defeated by the Senate 17-10.

The Senate will act today on a controversial House bill that would repeal a set of laws dating back to 1875 dealing with the liability of railroads.

The bill is intended to place railroads on a par with other parties in cases of contributory negligence.

An amendment that would seemingly make a House bill on farm machinery and equipment was approved without debate by the Senate.

The amendment, sponsored by Sen. Olen Hendrix of Prescott, would exempt agricultural seed and fertilizer from the sales tax.

Faubus told a news conference Wednesday that he would call a special session of the legislature if his $60 million construction program is voted down by the people in a special election.

In a letter to Sen. Allen, who is chairman of the Joint Budget Committee, the governor said that if any substitute plan is drawn up in which only funds that are presently available would be used, top priority would go to the State Hospital and the Children's Colony.

Faubus' construction program calls for a total of $76 million with the extra $16 million to go for buildings of other state agencies.

The governor proposes that the bonds be retired with money set aside from present revenues.

The House also approved measures that would:

Authorize cities and counties to form organizations to create port authorities.

Curtail the transporation and sale of obscene literature.

Put Lt. Gov. Nathan Gordon under the state employes' retirement system.

The House, by a vote of 46-26, defeated for the second time a measure by Perry County Rep. Paul Van Dalsem to create a state Weights and Measures Department.

Also defeated in the House was a bill by Rep. Hardy Croxton of Benton County to set up a study group known as the Assessments Committee on Economic, Governmental and Educational Report.

Bills meeting Senate approval would:

Have circuit courts produce evidence of insanity at the time a crime is committed before a criminal can be sent to the State Hospital.

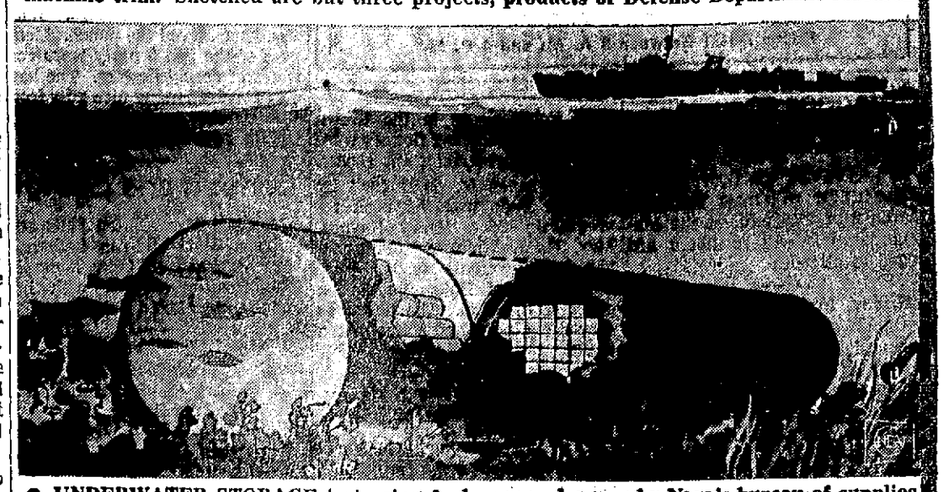

Provide an $835,000 yearly appropriation for Arkansas AM&N College at Pine Bluff.

Appropriate $83 million a year for highways. This now goes to Faubus for approval.

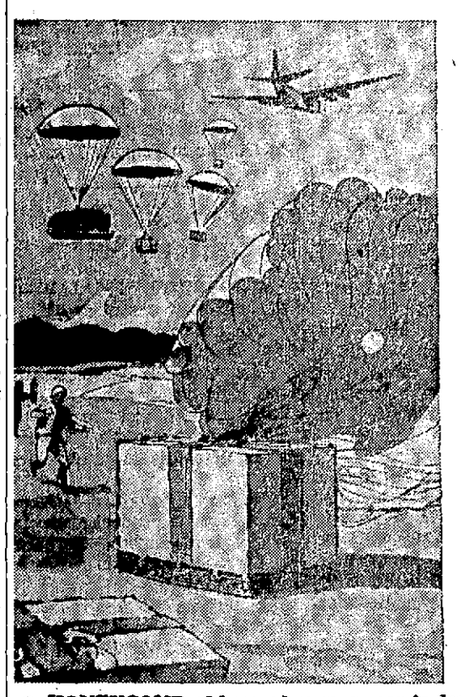

Allot over $53 million each year for the state Education Department.

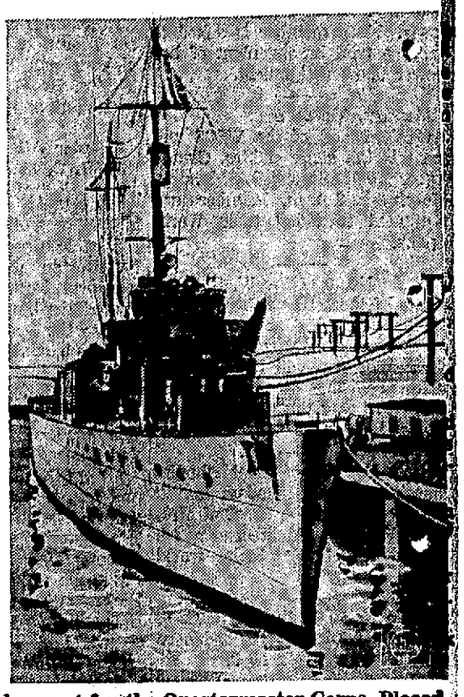

They Put Ingenuity to Work for Armed Force

It takes more than headline-producing atom-age developments to keep the nation's fighting machine trim. Sketched are but three projects, products of Defense Department research.

● UNDERWATER STORAGE test using fuel, now under way by Navy's bureau of supplies, could result in solid materiel storage. Steel-and-nylon harness would anchor a flexible rubber container to ocean floor. Secure from surface radiation, blast, or explosion, units could be used to store solids for five years. They could be towed, loaded, to new locations.

● HONEYCOMB of heavy brown paper is development for the Quartermaster Corps. Placed between platform and material of air-dropped supplies, honeycomb collapses, absorbs shock as cargo lands. It weighs less than conventional materials. Smaller chutes can be used; costs pared. Coming: machines to make honeycomb in the field to simplify supply.
● FLOATING POWER PLANT for the Air Force provides over 34,000 kilowatts of electricity and 123,000 pounds of steam per hour to a ballistic missile early warning system station in Greenland. Converted Navy ship represents savings of some 70 per cent over cost of a built-from-scratch plant with like capacity. Bonus: fewer men needed to operate.

neys for other railroads had agreed they would not go beyond this angle in any cases which might arise and he added that if the courts should hold the proposed new law was broader than he thought the Missouri Pacific would seek reinstatement of the lookout statutes.

Gordon asked if all the railroads wanted was to let them plead contributory negligence why they did not submit a bill merely to amend the lookout statutes to permit this. He said he would favor such a measure.

Moore said that even if the laws involved were repealed, trainmen would still be under a general law to watch the tracks for persons or animals.

Opponents of the bill denied this and said that the Supreme Court had held otherwise in a recent crossing case from Saline County.

Before the railroad bill was brought up, Bradley obtained passage of his bill to reduce state aid to any school district which cuts the percentage of expenditures for teachers' salaries.

The Senate also passed four House bills fixing salaries of county officials. The measures deal with assessors, county clerks, circuit clerks and sheriffs. The bills now go to Gov. Orval E. Faubus.

Sen. Q. Byrum Hurst of Hot Springs withdrew a bill which would have permitted cities to impose an automobile license tax of as much as $5.

Amity Still Victorious in State B Play

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Amity defeated Kingsland 77-62 Wednesday night to advance to the semi-finals of the Class B Senior Boys basketball tournament.

In the first round games Jessieville beat Parker's Chapel 67-41 and Biggers-Reyno romped over Palestine 71-57 to enter the quarter finals tonight. Hickory Ridge, which won over Lincoln by a score of 57-42 in an opening night game Monday, meets Marmaduke in another quarterfinal round today. Marmaduke was victorious over Greenbrier 68-66 Monday.

Larry Taylor's 34 points paced Amity's victory over Kingsland after a fairly close game. After taking a 39-35 halftime lead Amity pulled ahead late in the game and stayed in front. Gene Franklin netted 18 for Kingsland.

Jessieville, after rolling to a 30-14 halftime lead, was never threatened by Parker's Chapel.

Jimmy Coleman led Jessieville's scoring with 21 points followed by Ollie Noles with 18. Terry Vine had 14 for the losers.

Biggers-Reyno, edging Palestine 32-28 at halftime, jumped the spread to 14 points in the third quarter to 54-40 lead and held on.

Three Biggers-Reyno players hit in double figures. Carl Lamb got 24 points, Jerry Morrow 20 and Ronnie Roberts 18. For the losers Stanley Jones had 16.

Bonnies Get Bid and Start Losing Games

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Two basketball tournaments whose winners figure to be among the leading contenders for the National Collegiate Championship begin today and the results could confuse the issue as much as what's been happening to the St. Bonaventure team lately.

St. Bonaventure, beaten only by Ohio State in its first 22 games this season and ranked second nationally, was the first to accept an at-large invitation to the NCAA tournament. The Bonnies figured they could beat the mighty Buckeyes if given a second chance. So did a lot of impartial observers.

Then they ran into a couple of teams that were eager for bids to the National Invitation Tournament and pinned their hopes on one big victory. It was Niagara 87, St. Bonaventure 77 last Saturday. And Wednesday night an undermanned but fired up Duquesne team, playing without a substitution, conquered the Bonnies 79-74 in overtime. Now it's hard to figure who fits in where in the tournament picture.

The Atlantic Coast and Southern Conference Tournaments—starting today—could blur the scene a bit more. West Virginia, ranked eighth nationally in the Associated Press poll, is favored to win its seventh straight Southern title. Duke, No. 9, is seeded second but a slight favorite in the ACC event.

The windup of the Southwest Conference season tonight should produce another NCAA tournament entry. Texas Tech (10-3) can win the title by beating Texas. Otherwise the winner of the Texas A&M-Arkansas game will tie. Each has a 9-4 conference record.

Tournament-bound and tournament-hopeful teams dominated the rest of Wednesday night's major program.

Holy Cross, seeking the same NIT berth that Duquesne wants, rang up its eighth straight victory, downing Boston College 87-74.

Western Kentucky, second in the Ohio Valley Conference, beat NCAA-bound Louisville 96-80.

Elsewhere Notre Dame ended a rare losing season with a 61-54 victory over Creighton; Colgate downed Connecticut for the first time in four years 83-71; Carnegie Tech downed Penn State 70-57; Seton Hall overpowered Scranton 94-82; Lehigh beat Rutgers 70-66 and the Air Force beat Regis 67-64.

Accepted by U. S. Army Band

Delmer Weliver

A HOPE STUDENT AT ARKANSAS STATE COLLEGE has been accepted for the french horn section of the official U. S. Army Band, stationed at Fort Meyer, Va. He is a senior music major. He was valedictorian of his Hope High class and has a 3.95 grade average at A-State where he is president of the band, is listed in Who's Who in Colleges and Universities. His appointment was the result of an audition while the A-State Band was playing for the inaugural at Washington, D. C.

Porker, A&M Battle Tonight for 2nd Place

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — A game that looked like a battle for second place turns out to be more important when Arkansas Razorbacks host Texas A&M tonight.

If Arkansas wins and Texas Tech loses to Texas at Austin, then the Porkers and Red Raiders would windup in a tie for the championship. The co-champions then probably would meet to decide which represents the Southwest Conference in the NCAA playoffs.

The Raiders appeared to have things sewed up until Rice upset them at Houston this week.

Texas A&M, which blasted the Porkers in College Station earlier in the season, could gain a first place tie with a victory and a Tech loss.

All-Southwest star Clyde Rhoden needs 30 points in this important assignment to become the second Razorback ever to tally 1,000 points in a career. Rhoden has 970 amassed in a three-year career. George Kok, the 6-10 giant of another era, got his 1,000 plus total in a four-year career.

If Rhoden does it—and the odds are tough against him—it would give him a new career single game high. His best to date has been 29 points.

Other things ride on the outcome, too. If Arkansas wins, its record for the year would 17-6, the best since 18-4 in 1941-42 and 19-7 in 1942-43. The present Hogs are the highest scoring outfit, showing 1,670 points for a 75.9 average. The precentage record is 72 and the total point mark only 58 above the current total.

The Hogs' total of 933 points in conference activity beats the old record of 928 set in 1955 and this year's 44 per cent shooting mark tops the old standard of 38.4 per cent.

Three top Porker seniors will be closing out brilliant careers — if a playoff is not in order after this one — Rhoden and Pat Foster, named Wednesday to the all-Southwest Conference team, and chief rebounder and post man Ronnie Garner will be making their farewell appearances at Fayetteville after three years as starters for Coach Glen Rose.

Texas A&M, with as much riding on the outcome as the hosts, is possibly the toughest foe Arkansas could ask for among the league's array. Led by all SWC Carroll Broussard who leads the league in scoring, the Aggies play a juiced-up offense of run and shoot basketball and add a measure of defensive rebounders and the Stanley twins, Don and Pat, are among the league's best defenders.

Record Set in State A Tourney

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Class A basketball tournament scoring record which was set only Tuesday, was again broken Wednesday night by a 54-point outburst by Batesville Tom Davis.

Davis also toppled the overall state record of 51 points but his team fell to Marshall 94-74.

The 6-3 Davis had equalled the old mark of 40 on Monday only to see Jerry Rook of Nettleton break it with a 41-point effort.

Marshall, scoring 61 per cent of its shots, was never really threatened. Larry LaFevers led the victors with a not-too-modest 31 points.

The victory gives Marshall a berth in the semifinals when it plays the winner of today's McGehee-Nettleton match.

In the other Class A game quarterfinal today Mena, which beat Mariana Tuesday, clashes with England. England defeated Siloam Springs in the opening round.

Defending champion Mulberry's hopes of copping another crown were crushed Wednesday when Judsonia's Don Hopkins hit a buzzer-sounding jumpshot to break a 48-48 tie.

Billy Ray Wold led Judsonia's victory march with 23 points while Hopkins hit for 16. Mulberry's Benny Pritchard got 22.

In the other first round match Wednesday Manila, paced by Roland Wells' 25 points, defeated White Hall 68-59.

Three straight baskets by Dave Wright in the third quarter broke the game open to pave the way for the Manila triump and a shot at Judsonia tonight in a quarterfinal game.

Hawks Use a Yoyo to Beat the Celtics

BOSTON (AP) — One way to beat the Boston Cellics—and there aren't many—involves the yoyo.

That was the formula St. Louis Hawks' Coach Paul Seymour used in Wednesday night's 110-97 triumph over the defending National Basketball Association champions.

But it didn't stop the Celtics from clinching their fifth straight Eastern Division crown. They backed into it when Syracuse whipped Philadelphia 149-128, making it mathematically impossible fr the Warriors to catch up. Wilt Chamberlain got 56 points in the losing cause.

"I told the players before the game that I was going to have the yoyo out," Seymour said.

He explained that he meant the Hawks had to slow the game as much as possible, and they were required to pass at least eight times before taking a shot. If they violated the rule out they come.

Los Angeles increased its second-place lead in the Western Division to 1½ games by blasting New York 144-107 in the first half of the Boston Garden doubleheader.

Oscar Robertson hit for 37 points and Arlen Bockhorn for 36 as Cincinnati dropped Detroit 137-122 and moved to within one half game of the Pistons in the fight for the Western Division playoff spot.

Camden was the second largest city in Arkansas in 1860, with 2,219 people.

matter of FACT

Americans love large colorful musicals judging from the way people lined up for "Oklahoma" and "South Pacific." For a real extravaganza it would be hard to beat the one put on in staid Boston in 1872. Patrick Gilmore led an orchestra and chorus of 22,000. For the Anvil Chorus, 200 Boston firemen pounded real anvils. It brought the crowd of forty thousand to its feet.

Civil Rights Action in U. S. Hiring

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's first executive order in the civil rights field is expected to be aimed at discriminatory hiring practices by the government and by federal contractors.

Congressional sources, although not professing to know just what form the order will take, said today there are a number of steps open to the President trough executive action.

Kennedy said at his news conference Wednesday that in the next few days he hopes to issue an order that "will strengthen the employment opportunities, both in and out of government, for all Americans."

He gave no details, but some sources indicated they expected the President's order would call for tighter enforcement of existing bans on racial discrimination in employment practices.

Negroes have complained that within the federal government itself, despite policy statements to the contrary, they have equal job opportunities in very few agencies and even less equality with respect to promotions.

Kennedy's forthcoming order might direct all federal agencies to adhere strictly to a nondiscriminatory policy both in hiring and promoting employes, and require establishment of compliance offices in each bureau.

In the field of government contracts, he might order inspectors to see that nondiscrimination clauses are complied with as well as other terms.

Some sources said the order might also call for extension of such clauses by prime contractors to subcontractors and the cancellation of contracts if discriminatory practices were found.

Kennedy may envision a more active role for the government contracts committee, headed by Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson and in the previous administration by former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

The committee, set up by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, has no statutory authority but seeks to prevent discriminatory practices by federal contractors.

Murder Charge Is Reduced

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—A first degree murder charge was reduced to involuntary manslaughter Wednesday and 14-year-old Jesse Hopson Jr., a Negro, was turned over to Juvenile Court for a hearing next Tuesday.

The charge stemmed from the fatal shooting of George Stewart, 15, also a Negro, earlier this week. Hopson told police he and Stewart had been playing with a pistol but didn't know it was loaded.

Rivers Fall in Flooded Southland

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Swollen rivers continued a slow retreat over much of south-central Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi and Louisiana today, but lowland areas still reeled from the blow dealt them the past week and some sections remained threatened.

In central Mississippi, the Pearl River, 17 feet above flood stage, continued at its highest level since 1935 after forcing some 850 persons from their homes. A slow fall was expected to start late today.

In south Mississippi, the Leaf and Chickasawhay continued to fall after flooding large areas last week, and the crest of the Pascagoula continued to move southward.

Cleanup began at Hattiesburg, Miss., where three Negro children drowned when a boat overturned.

Crests had passed most points in Alabama, but thousands remained homeless as rivers grudgingly gave up territory. The Alabama River dropped 2.2 feet in 24 hours to 54.2 feet Wednesday at Montgomery after cresting Sunday at 58 feet—some 23 feet above flood stage.

At Selma in central Alabama, the Alabama River covered a cemetery, lifted many caskets and vaults and floated them away. Some lodged on fences. Others continued downstream.

The crest passed Selma early Wednesday and continued downstream. The Red Cross opened a shelter for refugees at Camden, south of Selma, where the worst was yet to come. The Alabama River crest was expected to reach Millers Ferry, near Camden, at 59 feet Friday night.

The Conecuh River in south Alabama continued to creep upward, measuring 33 feet Wednesday at River Falls, where the flood stage is 37 feet.

Streams in north Mobile County still were rising about six inches a day. Prepartaions were being made for evacuations.

In Georgia, West Point, Columbus and Fort Gains still were draining from the rain-swollen Chattahoochie, which forms part of the border between Georgia and Alabama.

The crest of Georgia's Flint River was expected to hit Albany and Bainbridge in the southwest part of the state, but no serious damage was expected.

There was little choice in the weather picture elsewhere in the country early today.

Light rain or showers fell over the Deep South, the Southeast, the Midwest, parts of California and the Plains states and Pacific Northwest.

Snow fell over northwest Pennsylvania and portions of the North Atlantic Coast states.

Rison Merchant Dies Wednesday

RISON, Ark. (AP)—Homer H Reed, 59, a Rison merchant businessman and civic leader, died Wednesday in a Pine Bluff hospital following a heart attack.

He was a member of the Woodlawn school board and the board of directors of C&L Electric Cooperative here.

Arkansas produced four million pounds of pecans last year.

Charge Filed in Chained Child Case

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — The father of a 14-year-old boy who complained his parent chained him up faced a charge of child cruelty today. The boy's mother and three younger children were en route to South Dakota.

Charges were filed against both Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hight Tuesday, but Mrs. Hight had already left by bus for the home of his parents in White City, S.D. Hight told officers the three other children had started by bus for White City before a Juvenile Court hearing Tuesday at which all four children were ordered made wards of the court.

The older boy, Billy Lee Hight was in a children's home.

The father was held in lieu of $500 bond.

Authorities indicated no action would be taken to return Mrs. Hight to face the child cruelty charge and that further action on the younger children—girls 12 and 6 and a boy 11—would be left up to South Dakota officials.

Billy Lee appeared at a fire station Saturday saying he was hungry and that his parents had kept him chained for two days in a stable near Oaklawn Race Track. His father is an itinerant race track groom.

At Tuesday's hearing the parents denied abusing the boy and pleaded with Judge Henry Murphy to allow them to keep the children. They said Billy Lee was tied with a chain about the size of a dog leash because he had run away.

IN MODERN KITCHEN

Open Plan Saves Space

An open design creates a spacious effect and increases the facilities in most kitchen arrangements. Here a convenient serving counter, which also may be used for preparing food and eating snacks, functions as a divider between the kitchen proper and dining area. The decor has been planned to continue basic themes throughout the open design. High-fidelity Marlite woodgrain paneling appears on the walls in the hall, the end of the serving counter and the unusual valance in the kitchen. The paneling has a washable plastic surface which is highly-resistant to heat and moisture. An eye-catching new Marlite fleece pattern also is used as an accent area on the wall behind the serving counter. In addition to improving the appearance of the kitchen, homemakers find that an open plan eliminates many needless steps.

Pair Admits to Firing Death Shot

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Police said Tuesday Leslie Douglas Ashley claims he—and not his girl friend—fired the first of six bullets that killed a real estate man.

Both the 23-year-old Ashley and Carolyn Ann Lima, 18, have admitted shooting Fred A. Tones, 45, of Houston, before gasoline was poured on his body and set afire, police said.

The body was found in a drainage ditch here Feb. 6.

Ashley and Miss Lima are in custody of New York City police, charged with Tones' murder.

Capt. Weldon Waycott of Houston reported Tuesday that Ashley said he fired the first bullet. Earlier, Miss Lima said she fired all six shots.

They were arrested in New York Sunday by the FBI on a charge of taking a stolen car from Houston to New York.

Waycott said Houston Detective Johnny Thornton talked with Ashley and Miss Lima for two hours.

Waycott said Ashley told Thornton a .22 caliber pistol fell from Miss Lima's purse during a scuffle in Tones' office and he picked it up and fired at Tones. Ashley said Tones knocked the gun from his hand and Miss Lima picked it up and fired five more times.

The officer said Ashley told him he then took Tones' body to a vacant lot and set it afire.

Lawmen Fear for Mother and Child

PECOS, Tex. (AP) — Lawmen searched 100 miles of highway in the west Texas area near Pecos Tuesday in fear that a mother and her 2½-year-old son may be dead.

Still at large is an AWOL soldier from Ft. Knox, Ky., Oscar A. Kernohan, 35, who is charged with murder following the finding of the partly-decomposed body of Norman Cox, 21, of Benton, Ark., at Van Horn, Tex., Saturday.

Sought were Kernohan's wife and stepson, who have not been seen since they left San Antonio before Christmas.

Kernohan disappeared after he was released from an El Paso hospital where he had been treated for injuries sustained in an automobile accident.

Officers said Cox' identification papers were found in Kernohan's car which was abandoned in Van Horn after the accident.

Republican Can Keep County Post

HARRISON, Ark. (AP)—Eulan Moore, a Republican, can keep the Boone County treasurer's job he's held since Jan. 1.

Moore Tuesday was ruled a three-vote victor over Democrat Joe Dixon, ending a four-month contest of the Nov. 8 general election results.

Dixon, who held the office before the election, said he did not plan to appeal the decision by County Judge Ralph Hudson.

The general election results gave Moore 3,278 votes to 2,369 for Dixon. Dixon contested the results of absentee votes.

A recount Jan. 19 ended in a tie—3,267 each. Some ballots were ruled in valid and on another recount Moore lost 12 votes but Dixon lost 15.

Airman Dies in Stolen Police Car

JACKSONVILLE, Ark. (AP)—A 21-year-old airman was killed early today when a stolen police car he was driving went out of control and crashed into a ditch and a utility pole.

Airman 2C. Emmet M. Webb Jr. was dead on arrival at a doctor's office.

He had been picked up by Officer Lorin Hudson at a cafe about midnight. Hudson took him to the city jail, but when the policeman got out of the car, Webb slid behind the wheel and drove away.

He was headed toward Little Rock Air Force Base, just north of Jacksonville, when the accident occurred.

Two Still Missing

EL DORADO, Ark. (AP) — A search for two men missing on the swollen Ouachita River resumed today.

Julian Hughen, 53, operator of a fishing camp on the river, and Ivan Fowler, 35, of Smackover, have been missing since Sunday. They reportedly had gone in a boat to take some food to an elderly man who lives on an island.

They were reported missing Monday and a search started then.

Hughen was identified as a former Malvern resident.

Eleven Are Killed

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — A Communist Viet Cong battalion chief and 10 of his men were killed in a clash with army troops in Ben Tro Province south of Saigon last week, the government reported today.

Easy-Does-It

THE CASUAL LOOK, which has swept the country, takes more than casual planning and this Butterick Pattern No. 9414 has the secret. It's as easy to make and easy to live in as it is easy on the eyes. Fashion's finishing touch, the 22-inch neckline Talon Magic-Zip down the front has guide lines on either side of the zipper chain for easy application, and assures perfect casual fit. Here, it is interpreted in sailcloth, yet all sorts of material for indoor and outdoor wear in the season's newest and brightest colors, may be used.

Retirement Study Commission

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A bill to create a Special Retirement System Study Commission passed unanimously in the Arkansas House today.

The bill was an outgrowth of a Teacher Retirement System controversy but it also calls for studies of the Highway Employes Retirement System, State Police Retirement System, and State Employes Retirement System.

The bill instructs the commission to report to the 1963 General Assembly.

Says GOPs Not Stalling Program

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Styles Bridges, R-N.H., said today Republicans are trying to amend—but not stall—President Kennedy's New Frontier legislative program.

Bridges, who heads the Senate Republican Policy Committee, denied that in demanding additional witnesses and in engaging in lengthy questioning GOP members are using delaying tactics against key Kennedy proposals.

"All we are trying to do is correct some basic weaknesses in the legislation the President has proposed," he said in an interview.

Bridges denied specifically the suggestion by Sen. Paul M. Douglas, D-Ill., that by long questioning of witnesses on the administration's depressed areas bill and by demanding that additional persons testify on minimum wage legislation the Republicans were trying to slow down congressional action.

Instead, Bridges said, the Republicans are working to get a satisfactory "anti-pirating" amendment into the depressed areas bill—one which would bar the use of federal funds to lure industry from one section of the country to another.

In the minimum wage field, he said the Republican objective is to make certain that small, local retailers are not included in legislation that will lift the present $1 an hour minimum in stages to $1.25.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, who has set a goal of Senate passage of at least one Kennedy priority measure each week, said he hopes the Republicans aren't engaging in any slowdown.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., told the Senate Tuesday that Senate Labor subcommittee action on Kennedy's aid to education legislation may have to be postponed until after hearings are completed on the minimum wage bill.

Sen. Pat McNamara, D-Mich., chairman of the subcommittee handling the latter bill, had hoped to conclude work on it this week. But Morse said Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, a member of both subcommittees, had objected to having the hearings go on simultaneously.

Increase in Weapons Is Approved

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

WASHINGTON AP)—President Kennedy said today the Defense Department has recommended an increase in conventional weapons strength.

The President also told a news conference that the administration has reached no decision on whether there should be any stepup in nuclear weapons capability.

As to the Pentagon recommendation for an increase in conventional weapons power, Kennedy said he will take about two weeks before making any judgment on it.

At the start of the conference, Kennedy made these announcements before opening the session to questions:

1. For the first time since last July, there was no net outflow of gold from the United States this week.

Kennedy commented that this signifies that "confidence in the dollar throughout the world is being restored."

2. West Germany's Chancellor Konrad Adenauer will visit Washington April 12-13 at Kennedy's invitation. The President said he is looking forward to meeting Adenauer and having an exchange of views.

3. The President announced he is urging Congress to restore to former President Dwight D. Eisenhower the rank of five-star general. Kennedy called this appropriate because of Eisenhower's outstanding military record and his long public service to the country in peace and war.

Eisenhower resigned from the rank in order to run for president in 1952.

4. Kennedy said he had today signed an executive order creating a Peace Corps of Young Americans who will serve abroad in providing aid to underdeveloped nations. The corps will operate at first on a pilot basis, Kennedy said, but he also is asking Congress to enact legislation which would make the corps a permanent operation.

In response to questions, Kennedy said he shortly hopes to issue an executive order designed to "strengthen employment opportunities in and out of government."

He made that announcement when asked how he feels about a recommendation by the Civil Rights Commission that federal funds be withheld from public colleges and universities that discriminate on grounds of race, religion or national origin.

Kennedy said the new administration's efforts in the civil rights field will be concentrated first in the field of employment. He indicated action may be taken later in the areas of education and housing.

Bowling Scores High In Fun Plus Fashion

Bowling, anyone? All over America, some ten million women have taken to the lanes like ducks to water. Today's bowling belles include such prominents as Carol Heiss Jenkins, world-figure-skating champion; Mrs. Leon Mandel, women's shooting champion; and Mrs. Anthony Drexel Duke, to name a few.

The sudden emergence of bowling as a chic, social sport is prompting a whole new world of fashion. Exciting costumes created especially for bowling by the nation's top designers. Helping to make the bowling center the fashion center of the community is a leading bowling equipment maker, AMF, which has commissioned a number of designers to create special fashions for the sport.

Typical of the recent crop of bowling togs are those shown above. Casual elegance on the lanes and elsewhere is achieved in the smart separates designed by Robert Sloan. Precision-tailored in grey flannel and in crisp, black-and-white check, both outfits have classic sleeveless tops, self belts, and culotte skirts—the height of fashion and bowling ease.

Many of the new fashions for bowling are handsome enough to go anywhere from the bowling center. Wispy silk shirtwaists, feather-weight wools, suits with contrasting print blouses and matching knee pants, wrap-around reversible skirts lined with vibrant silk prints for a quick change before dinner are indicative of the bowling fashion trend.

A big reason for bowling's increasing popularity among the smart set are the new luxury bowling centers springing up throughout suburban communities. Typical modern AMF bowling centers which feature cocktail lounges, attractive restaurants and baby-sitting services and even dancing on weekends.

Defense to Increase U. S. Forces

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedy administration is reported considering recommending to Congress a substantial increase in U.S. military forces capable of meeting limited aggression by Communist forces anywhere in the world.

Final decisions on this and other possible new defense proposals are to be made by President Kennedy.

Kennedy's general belief that the United States needs greater capacity for limited war is already well known, however, as a result of previous statements by him. Indications of the main line of administration thinking on the defense problem have now come also from Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

Rusk said in a statement late Tuesday that "we are determined in cooperation with our allies, to enhance the common defense to assure the security of the free world."

"I have long felt," Rusk continued, "that this will require a strengthening of the non-nuclear aspects of that defense, as well as the maintenance of its nuclear aspects. Our commitments to the common defense are known, as is our determination to back them."

Rusk issued his statement in the midst of controversy over a news report published Monday of a memorandum on defense policy which he submited to Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara early in February. Rusk called the news report "highly inaccurate."

Other State Department officials said that what Rusk most strenuously objected to was an element of the report saying that he favored defending the NATO Allies in Europe by conventional rather than nuclear weapons. He was also reported disturbed by a "distortion" of his memorandum to the effect that he would favor use of U. S. troops rather than Allied forces in limited wars which might arise in parts of the world outside Europe.

State Department press officer Lincoln White said Rusk's statement was generally in line with the meaning of the memorandum which Rusk sent McNamara. Other authoritative informants reported that what Rusk recommended was an increase in the ability of the North Atlantic Treaty members to meet a substantial, non-nuclear attack in Europe by conventional means rather than by instant use of nuclear weapons.

These informants also said Rusk expressed the view that it would be necessary for some years at least to maintain American-manned medium-range ballistic missiles (which carry nuclear warheads) in the European area, based either on land or on seaborne carriers. The presence of these missiles in the European area, Rusk reportedly recommended, should be accompanied by an assurance to the Allies that they will be used if necessary.

Embassy Stoned In Guatemala

GUATEMALA AP) — Demonstrators hurled sticks and stones at the U.S. Embassy building Tuesday, breaking a number of windows.

A demonstration had been called by the Committee for Social Economic Action led by Jorge Adan Serrano to protest a proposed income tax.

About 5,000 persons congregated in Central Park to hear Serrano and other speakers but a hostile group prevented them from speaking. Fights broke out and a number of persons were injured. Serrano was forced to suspend the meeting.

A group of extremists then marched to the U.S. Embassy where they shouted against "Yankee imperialism" and for Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro. Military and national police dispersed them with shots in the air and tear gas.

Warrant Issued for Oklahoman

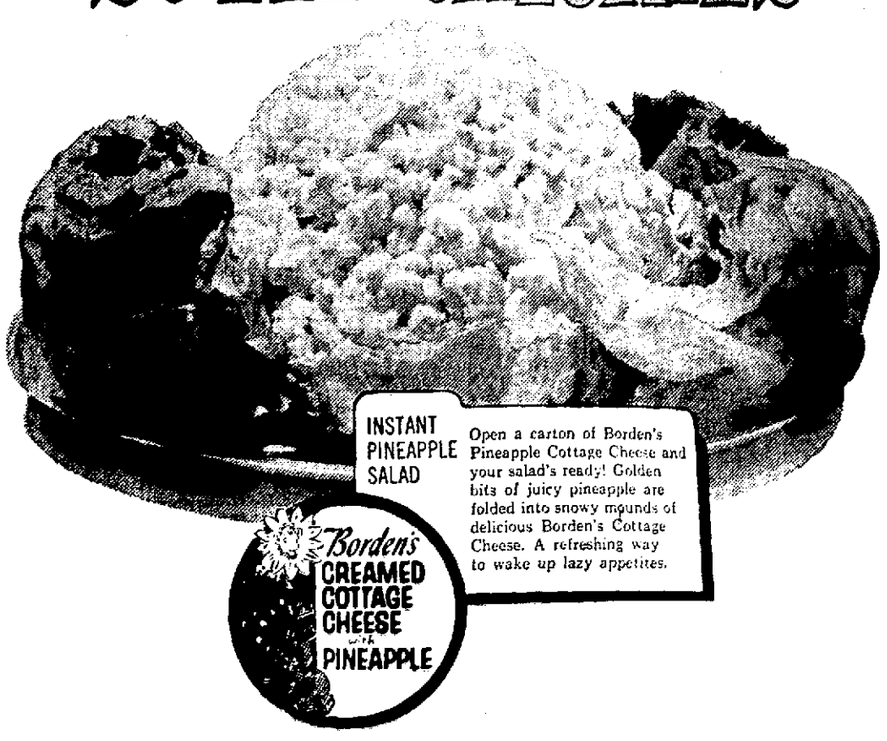

FORT SMITH, Ark. AP) — U. S. Commissioner John Holland issued a warrant Tuesday for the arrest of J. D. Atkins, 28, of Arkoma, Okla., who is being sought in the death of a Fort Smith man.

The warrant charges Atkins with unlawful flight to avoid prosecution for murder. Atkins is charged in the fatal beating of Buford Loyd, 37, who was found dead in his car Feb. 20.

Held by Chinese

HONG KONG AP) — Three missing British police inspectors were held by the Red Chinese, the Hong Kong government disclosed today in announcing they had been freed. The three set said Sunday for Tolo harbor bordering Red China in a converted lifeboat and apparently were swept into Chinese waters by strong winds.

WHAT EVER HAPPENED TO BABY JANE?

Chapter XXXIV

Sitting with one pajama - clad leg draped loosely over the arm of her chair, Katherine Singer stared in dark fascination at the front page of the paper and shook her head.

"You just simply wonder sometimes," she said broodingly. "You wonder how people can do such things to each other. Every once in a while there's something like this."

Sprawled on the living room floor, Paul Singer looked up reluctantly from the sports section. "Like what?"

"Where this woman locked up her sister—this old movie star—and kept her a prisoner. You'd have to be crazy, wouldn't you, to do a thing like that?"

"Of course," Paul nodded. "Didn't she kill somebody, too?"

"Well, they say she's 'sought on suspicion of murder.' I guess that's the same as saying she did it. Some woman who cleaned house for them." She shook her head. "Remember, we saw her on television just last week—Blanche Hudson. My gosh. . ."

Paul Singer made a brief grunting noise of assent and returned to his own reading. Kath continued her frowning perusal of the story about the disappearance of the Hudson sisters, giving particular attention to the accompanying photographs. She rather liked the one of the stoutish young man in the hospital bed with his mother close beside him, her cheek pressed close to his. "Edwin Flagg, Intended Victim." There was something in the man's expression, a kind of numb bewilderment, that made the picture almost humorous. Below were posed portraits of a Mrs. Pauline Bates and Mrs. Edna Stitt, the poor cleaning woman who had been murdered. According to the story Mrs. Stitt's purse had been found in a closet of the Hudson house.

"You suppose she really killed her?" Kath mused.

Paul nodded. "I guess."

"She must have. I mean, it would be easy to find someone —someone who was crippled like that—if they were still around somewhere. They'd be recognized everywhere they went. Poor thing, though — Blanche Hudson—she's had so much trouble in her life." Letting the paper drop to the floor, she flung her arms vigorously over her head and stretched.

"When are the Martins coming?" she yawned.

"Huh?"

"The Martins, Stan and Glenna. You asked them. When did they say they'd show up?"

"Three, I guess, between three and 3:30."

"Well—in that case — you'd better take yourself on a little jaunt down to the store. We're out of everything — booze, eats, the works."

"Okay, okay . . ."

"Well—you'd better do it."

Twenty minutes later, shaved now and wearing sun glasses, Paul Singer made his way from the beach house out to the garage next to the highway only to discover that the gray coupe he had noticed earlier from the kitchen window was parked in such a way that it blocked the garage entrance. His first reaction was one of annoyance; when people came to the beach they thought they could get away with anything. You could throw your trash anywhere, you could park your car wherever you found the space. The two old girls had arrived in the fog; they probably hadn't even noticed. He looked back toward the beach. The Sunday crowd had assembled now in force; he'd never be able to find them in a mess like that. That meant he'd have to move the darned thing himself.

It was an old routine, and they knew it by heart; Kath got inside to steer, while he stayed outside and shoved. Taking his place at the rear of the coupe, Paul leaned forward.

"Got the brake off?"

Kath looked out hurriedly through the window and then, in chagrin, reached down to the emergency.

As she released the brake, sliding it down into place, her eye caught at the registration slip,, attached in its protective cover to the steering post. Moving her hand back from the brake, she touched the cover and turned it.

"Heave ho!" Paul yelled from behind.

The car rolled forward, but Kath, looking down at the name on the slip, uttered a small gasp of recognition and again grabbed for the brake.

"Hey? What's the big—"

"Paul!" Kath yelled. "Paul, come here!"

As he came up quickly to the window she looked out at him with an expression of numb dismay.

"What's the matter?" Paul asked. "What—?"

Leaping from the car, she took his arm in a hard, frightened grip.

"On the slip," she said breathlessly, "the name! Paul — this car—it belongs to Blanche Hudson!"

Freed Pilots to Talk to Newsmen

WASHINGTON AP)—The Defense Department, ending a silence it imposed, said two RB47 pilots released by the Soviet Union will hold a news conference in Topeka, Kan., on Friday.

It said Capts. Freeman B. Olmstead and John R. McKone, held for seven months after their plane was shot down, will be available to newsmen at Forbes Air Force Base Friday afternoon.

The two returned to the United States a month ago. Since then, the military heads have refused to permit newsmen to talk with the two fliers.

At a recent news conference, President Kennedy was asked about this situation. He replied that the men would be permitted to hold a news conference after they had completed their vacations.

Cessna Plane Test

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—Cessna aircraft's unique push-pull plane for high-flying business men had its first test Tuesday.

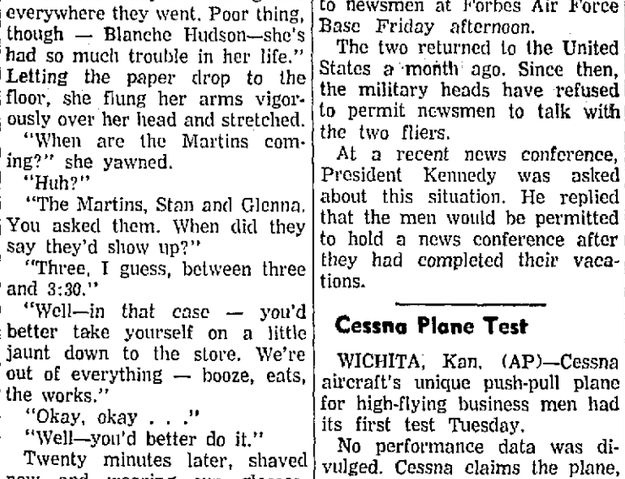

No performance data was divulged. Cessna claims the plane, with one propeller pulling in front and the other pushing in back, will out-perform any other light plane in its price range.

Hospital Bonds

FORREST CITY, Ark. (AP)—A $500,000 bond issue to provide for expansion of the Forrest Memorial Hospital was approved by voters Tuesday.

Complete unofficial returns showed that issuance of the bonds was approved 1,299-320 and a two-mill tax to support the bonds was passed 1,278,-359.

Party Pretty . . . Party Good

Looking for a new mouth-watering recipe for a party day? Look no further for here is one of the best. Try it with chicken or seafood and taste the goodness. Good with it are potato chips and relishes of whole cranberry sauce, ripe olives and celery hearts. For dessert serve slices of angel cake topped with lemon sherbet sauced with crushed pineapple, and steaming cups of coffee.

Baked Avocado Poulette

½ can condensed cream of chicken soup
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1 can (5 to 6 oz.) boned chicken
1 can (8 oz.) peas
2 ripe avocados
2 teaspoons lemon juice
1 tablespoon toasted slivered almonds

Stir together soup, mayonnaise, Worcestershire sauce and liquid drained from chicken. Add chicken cut into chunks and drained peas; heat. Cut avocados in half and remove pit. Brush with lemon juice. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) 20 minutes, until heated through. Fill cavities with the chicken mixture and sprinkle with almonds. Four servings.

Baked Seafood Avocado

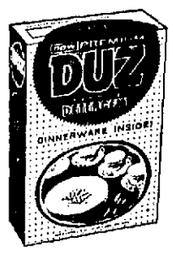

Use canned shrimp, crab meat or tuna instead of chicken. And instead of chicken soup use either condensed cream of mushroom or celery.

U. S. Aid for Victims of Flood Waters

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Federal aid and sunshine cheered thousands of flood victims in the water-logged South today, but the big rivers of the area still churned over their banks.

Alabama, one of the hardest hit sections in a 500-mile band across four Southern states, counted 10 million dollars in damage to public facilities alone and the lower Alabama River was reaching new heights.

The worst was also yet to come along downstream reaches of the Chattahoochee River, which forms the borderline for southern Alabama and Georgia.

Gov. Ernest Vandiver asked President Kennedy to declare flood-stricken sections of Georgia a major disaster area after farmers reported losing crops and livestock and many buildings and homes were damaged.

Alabama and Mississippi flood areas already have been designated eligible for federal disaster relief. Flood victims formed long lines at Hattiesburg, Miss., to apply for emergency clothing and other aid. Tons of surplus food were ordered sent to Montgomery, Ala., still nearly surrounded by water.

Emergency refugee shelters were set up at Selma, Ala. Other downstate areas of Alabama, Georgia and Mississippi prepared for rising waters as the rivers continued carrying off the overflow of a week of torrential downpours.

The Red Cross set up field disaster headquarters for the four-state area at Montgomery. The National Guard and Salvation Army was helping distribute food and clothing to flood victims.

Foster, Rhoden All-Conference

DALLAS (AP)—The University of Arkansas placed two men on the Associated Press All-Southwest Conference basketball team announced today.

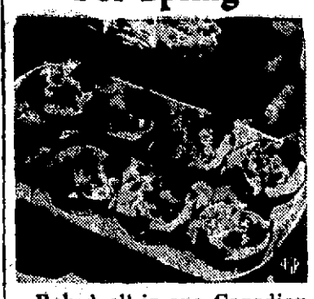

Clyde Rhoden and Pat Foster, Razorback co-captains, join two players from Texas Tech and one each from Texas A&M, SMU and Texas on the first team. Jerry Carlton of Arkansas was named to the second team.

Others on the first squad are Carroll Broussard of A&M, Del Ray Mounts and Harold Hudgens of Tech, Jan Loudermilk of SMU and Donnie Lasiter of Texas.

Fishing Compromise

LONDON (AP)—A compromise has brought an end to the fishing war between Britain and Iceland. Britain agreed to accept the 12-mile fishing limit around the island nation but British trawlers will be allowed to fish six miles offshore for the next three years. The agreement, announced Monday night, must be ratified by parliaments of both nations.

Sprightly For Spring

Baked all-in-one Canadian Bacon-Egg Cups are blossom-bright and simply different. Perfect for springtime brunch.

Their shaping is a cinch. Buttered and crust-trimmed slices of enriched bread are gently pressed into custard cups. A Canadian bacon slice and an egg is added to each cup; then baked.

Serve these brunchtime daisies with tomato juice and oven-warm bakers' coffee cake to bring springtime's sprightliness to the meal.

Canadian Bacon 'N Egg Cups

6 slices enriched bread
2 tablespoons soft butter or margarine, melted
6 slices Canadian bacon
6 small or medium-sized eggs

Brush butter on both sides of bread. Trim crusts. Gently press each slice into a custard cup. Press a slice of Canadian bacon over bread. Break an egg on top of the bacon. Place custard cups on a baking sheet. Bake at 350°F. for 20 to 25 minutes, or until egg is set. Remove from custard cups to serve. Yield: 6 servings.

Judgeship Bill Gets Approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill that would create a fourth U.S. district judgeship in Arkansas has been approved by the Senate Judiciary Committee and is expected to receive early consideration.

Currently the state has three U.S. district judges including one for the eastern portion, the western portion and the third is a roving judge.

Under the bill being considered the new judge would also be a roving judge with authority to sit in both the eastern and western divisions.

The bill also would allow for sessions of the eastern division court to sit at Pine Bluff.

Both were asked to be included in the bill by Sen. John W. McClellan, D-Ark.

Crime Takes Jump

WASHINGTON (AP)—The FBI says major crime in the United States jumped 12 per cent last year over the record total of 1959.

The report issued Tuesday showed no decline in any crime category. Robberies rose 18 per cent; burglaries, 15 per cent; larcenies 11 per cent; auto thefts, 7 per cent; murder, 4 per cent; rape, 4 per cent; and aggravated assaults, 3 per cent.

Political Asylum

MOSCOW (AP) — Nikifor Kalchenko, one of the farm belt leaders denounced by Premier Khrushchev in his drive to reform Soviet agriculture, has been dismissed as premier of the Ukraine and sent into political asylum.

Three Things That Affect Your Health

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The blues after birth, dangerous cockroaches and new clues to hard-bitten teth are subjects with a focus on health.

One of 10 new mothers gets the blues just about the fifth day after her child is delivered, a scientist says. The reason is probably an anticlimax in the adventure of motherhood.

Throughout her pregnancy she gets lots of attention from her husband, friends, relatives and her doctor, explains Dr. George W. Morley of the University of Michigan.

This attention reaches its peak about two or three days after delivery. Then suddenly it decreases. Most patients can give no reason for the blues, admit that it's silly, but the blues are still there. Most frequent treatment is to have a good cry and talk it out.

A new clue to ways to make teth less suceptible to decay comes from University of Alabama scientists—and more than 300 human teth.

The researchers softened the tooth enamel with a known softening agent—and then rehardened the enamel by soaking the teeth in a solution of calcium salts. The teeth hardened faster when a small amount of fluoride was added to the soak.

The findings suggest how fluoride acts on teeth when added to drinking water or is directly applied to the teeth.

The lowly cockroach may be highly dangerous—thanks to its hospitality for a whole family of human ills.

Cockroaches have been found to carry four strains of polio virus, some 40 kinds of bacteria that infect man and the eggs of some worms that can affect both man and animals.

The cockroach also carries along some 220 other viruses, fungi, bacteria and worms which are harmless to man, says a report published by the Smithsonian Institution.

Race Issue Flares in Union Meet

By NORMAN WALKER

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—A feud over racial bias in labor unions has flared again in the AFL-CIO high command.

The argument pitted George Meany, federation president, against A. Philip Randolph, Negro president of the Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters.

The Meany - Randolph clash marked the concluding session Tuesday of the AFL-CIO Executive Council's winter meeting. The men have argued before on the same subject.

Meany maintained the AFL-CIO is making steady if slow progress toward eliminating union discrimination against the Negroes. Randolph retorted that restive AFL-CIO Negro members feel little is being accomplished and insist on drastic remedies.

Randolph, in effect, accused Meany himself of being too lackadaisical in efforts to end Negro job bias.

He remarked that Meany acted with more zeal in dealing with union corruption and in arranging the AFL-CIO merger.

There was one immediate effect. Charles Zimmerman resigned as director of the federation's Civil Rights Committee, which Randolph criticized as ineffective. Randolph demanded a Negro take over that post.

Randolph, only Negro member of the 29-man AFL-CIO council, proposed a series of sweeping steps to his colleagues. One called for expelling any AFL-CIO union that failed to abolish in six months all discriminations or segregation.

The Randolph proposals were put aside for study until the next council meeting in June. Instead, a new policy statement was adopted calling on all AFL-CIO unions to step up racial equality efforts and to establish civil rights units in each union.

Shoots Parents

VAN NUYS, Calif. (AP)—A boy shot down his stepmother and father in a garage ambush Tuesday night because "they were too strict with me," police report.

Harry Wiggins, 42, and his wife, Florence, 36, were taken to a hospital in fair condition. He was hit twice and his wife five times.

Terry Lynn Wiggins, 15, was booked on suspicion of assault to commit murder, delinquent.

China Candid Deal

HONG KONG (AP) — Communist China is negotiating with Australia and Canada for additional shipments of wheat to supplement a purchase of 2.5 million tons that started flowing across the pacific last month. No official details are available on the negotiations.

Fort Smith was established in 1817, partly for the purpose of keeping peace between the Cherokee and Osage Indian nations.

Luncheon For Balmy Days

It won't be long before "old man" winter is on his merry way and balmy spring days are here. Luncheon affairs will bring those out who went into hibernation during the cold snowy weather.

For your first get-together for this "most welcomed" season serve a light, airy and failure-proof Luncheon Asparagus Souffle made with canned condensed mushroom soup from your pantry shelf. Your freezer stock helps too, with frozen condensed cream of shrimp soup, the base for a gourmet Almond Sauce, perfect topping for the Spring souffle.

Round out the menu with a small but crisp tossed green salad highlighted with tomato wedges. For an attractive dessert, fill large brandy snifters or compote glasses with "almost thawed" frozen mixed fruit and melon balls. With an array of fancy cookies and hot tea, luncheon is complete.

Luncheon Asparagus Souffle

1 can (10½ ounces) condensed cream of mushroom soup
1 cup shredded sharp Cheddar cheese
½ teaspoon ground nutmeg
½ cup chopped cooked asparagus
4 eggs, separated

In saucepan, combine soup, cheese, and nutmeg; heat slowly until cheese melts; add asparagus. Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored; stir into soup mixture. Beat egg whites until stiff; fold soup mixture into egg whites. Pour into 2-quart casserole. Bake in a slow oven (300°F.) 1 to 1¼ hours, or until souffle is golden brown. Serve immediately. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Shrimp Almond Sauce

1 can (10 ounces) frozen condensed cream of shrimp soup
⅓ cup water
2 tablespoons chopped almonds
1 tablespoon sherry

In saucepan, combine all ingredients. Heat, stirring now and then. Serve over souffle. Makes about 1½ cups sauce.
